

plans, and seeing it again without the rain was a joy. We have now been able to visit it all, including the noble audience with our family in it, and continue to be very impressed at the way in which you absorbed our little bits of history in one Sunday morning around the kitchen table.

The video will be part of our archive so we hope it will last for a long time into the next century!

With kindest regards to everyone, and many, many thanks!

Yours gratefully
Sue Hanham.
